

INTERACTIVE SYSTEMS

Digital Window (or interactive touch screen stand) is a video projection system on a transparent surface and acts as an animated poster. The content changes from conventional to interactive when someone interacts with it and changes back to its original state when it is not used. This system can convert a shop window into an interactive touch screen, attracting the attention of the public.

